About Me

I have worked as a SoftWare Developer for more than a year, and I love creating websites that work well and are fast. I can work on both the parts of a website that users see (frontend) and the parts they don't (backend). I use up-to-date tools to make sure people have a smooth experience when they use the websites I build. I know how to use HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React.js, and Node.js to make websites that look good and work well on any device.
